

PEOPLE ON THE MOVE

HUGO AMELINK

Recognizing that there is a wider market share of Concrete & Building Envelope restoration work to capture, Manganaro Mid-Atlantic is pleased to announce the hiring of Mr. Hugo Amelink, CPSM as the new Manager of Business Development. Hugo has over 20 years' experience in the architecture, engineering and construction world, and it is apparent that his skill sets and temperament will provide immediate and enduring value in our initiative to add growth opportunities to the C&BE product line.

JACOB SWANSON

Midwest Regional Manager for Avanti International introduces Jacob Swanson. Jacob has over 10 years of injection grouting experience for innovative companies such as BDA & Associates and Structural Group—including Structural Specialty Contracting and PULLMAN. As an expert injection specialist of acrylics, polyurethane, and cementitious grouts, Jake's past responsibilities include crew chief, project manager, and liaison for engineers and owners. Jake confesses to not know it all, learns something new every day, and looks forward to teaching what he knows to Avanti's community of contractors, municipalities, engineers and dealer channel. Britt N. Babcock, Avanti's Vice President of Sales says, "Over the last year and a half, Chris Hamilton has been a stellar performer in the Midwest—so transitioning Chris to the Southeast region was an easy decision as he resides in Atlanta. Finding a suitable replacement in the Midwest was a concern, but no longer. Avanti is very proud to have the expertise of Jacob Swanson on the team. Over the last 12 weeks, he has already proven to be an asset to our partners."

John Birazzi joins Klein and Hoffman as a new firm owner. Klein and Hoffman, K&H, a leading architectural restoration and structural engineering firm, is pleased to announce a new company shareholder—John Birazzi, AIA, CSI, CDT, Leed AP, as Associate Principal. He was formerly with Booth Hanson and held positions as a principal and technical director. He is an expert in life safety evaluations, due diligence reviews of existing buildings, and forensic architectural investigations. Birazzi joined Klein and Hoffman in January 2016. He has more than 33 years of experience as registered architect and holds certifications as a certified construction documents technologist and a registered energy professional. His professional expertise is diverse including architectural design, system selection, project costs, sustainability, specifications, codes, materiality, alternates and best practices. Some of his highly recognized projects include the University of Chicago, Public Building Commission, Chicago Botanic Garden, University of Illinois at Urbana/Champaign, Roosevelt University, Bank of America Theater, Kohl's Children's Museum, and as the trusted advisor to Cook County on projects such as the Cook County Domestic Violence Courthouse and others. He received his Bachelor of Architecture degree from Illinois Institute of Technology.
